

Referencing in university

- Learning how to reference correctly is an extremely important step towards achieving academic success.
- Here at Middlesex University Dubai, different referencing systems are used for various programmes. Law students are urged to use OSCOLA, psychology students refer to APA, whereas students enrolled in other programmes use the Harvard referencing style.
- In order to provide students with the correct referencing guidelines, the University offers its students free access to ‘Cite Them Right’ – an online platform with a complete guide to the referencing systems used at the University
